As a department, we came together to shrink the 19 outcomes to 5 general outcomes. As Dev-Ed continue to align with both ABE and Written Communications, it is essential to create clearer outcomes in Dev-Ed that address the pathway our students take from one department to another.

As a department, we came together to shrink the 21 outcomes to 5 general outcomes. As Dev-Ed continue to align with both ABE and Written Communications, it is essential to create clearer outcomes in Dev-Ed that address the pathway our students take from one English class to another.
ENGR& 224 Engineering Thermodynamics CC Approval: 06/08/2017	Min Credits    Min Hours Lecture:    5.00        55.00 Lab:         0 Clinical:       0 Field:         0 Systems:       0 Quarterly:    5.00 Major Course Modification v.2	2018 Spring	Modify Prerequisites - Remove concurrent enrollment option for Physics 221. Students are currently allowed to take Engr 224 concurrently with Physics 221. This was done historically, since Engr 224 was only offered every other year, making it challenging for scheduling. We now offer Engr 224 every spring, and Physics 221 three times per year. It has been a struggle for students to complete Engr 224 concurrently with Phys 221, since physics topics are used in thermodynamics. We believe students will be more successful if they have already completed Physics 221. In Spring 2017, only one student tried to take them concurrently, and he withdrew.	Change prerequisite: PHYS& 221 and MATH& 152 and CHEM& 161
